Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 18 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy with occasionally heavy, perhaps thundery rain.

Today:
It will be cloudy with occasionally heavy, thundery rain spreading northwards through much of the day. Winds will become strong along coasts later, giving a cool feel to the day. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Tonight:
Outbreaks of rain will clear most areas through the evening, then mainly dry with clear spells developing overnight. Strong winds along coasts will tend to ease later. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Saturday:
Variable cloud cover will allow warm sunny spells to develop, and most places will be dry until evening. Further heavy, perhaps thundery rain will arrive during the evening and overnight. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Cloudy with occasionally heavy rain or thundery showers through the period. Feeling rather cool in the wetter periods, with only brief sunny interludes expected.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.